No man is

an island

A clod of earth needs no understanding . . . hope . . . love. But I am a man—my soul desires peace. I cannot live isolated in a sea of self; for those are turbulent waters, never satisfied, never secure, never at rest.

It is when I become involved in the tide of mankind—willing to share my brother's thoughts, his problems, his needs, and my talents—that I discover that inner calm and peace. For only then comes the realization that every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main, and that no man is an island.

Familiar Harbor

In May, 1939, the residence of William H. Luden became Central Catholic High, through the efforts of Father William Hammeke, rector of St. Paul Parish.

As the years progressed, the student population soared from an initial seventy-five to the present enrollment of over eleven hundred. Following the dictates of supply and demand, the school needed more space to accommodate the ever increasing number of students. Additions were made to the main building in 1941, 1945, and 1955.

But, when the horde of teenagers descended upon the Bon Air mansion this past September, not even that stately building could withstand the attack. To alleviate crowded conditions, the administration deemed it necessary to open an annex at Twelfth and Spruce. This annex houses six of the freshman classes and has become an integral part of Central's life.

In Memoriam

As we prepared for another school term, our beloved Cardinal Archbishop, John Cardinal O'Hara was called from this world of space and time into the timelessness of eternity. During the years in which His Eminence, John Cardinal O'Hara presided as spiritual leader of the large archdiocese of Philadelphia, all felt the influence of his magnanimous character. Especially dear to his heart were the teenagers entrusted to his charge. Numerous elementary schools, several large diocesan high schools, as well as schools for exceptional children stand as a lasting testimony of his desire to spread the kingdom of Christ. In his work, Cardinal O'Hara fulfilled perfectly the description penned by Pope Pius XI of the exemplary priest who "both by vocation and divine commission, is chief apostle and tireless furtherer of the Christian education of youth."

Diocesan Leader

After the death of His Eminence, John Cardinal O'Hara, the burden of Administrator of the large archdiocese of Philadelphia fell upon the Most Reverend Joseph McShea.

On February 15, it was announced that the diocese of Philadelphia had been divided and the new diocese of Allentown created. The Most Reverend Joseph McShea was named the first bishop of the area which includes Berks County.

Bishop McShea spent most of his boyhood in Philadelphia, attended West Philadelphia Catholic High School, the seminary of St. Charles Boromeo, and was ordained a priest in Rome in 1932. He was elevated to monsignor in 1948 and to bishop in 1952. His Excellency is already a familiar figure in this area, as he has been here many times to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation.

The Right Reverend Monsignor Edward M. Reilly, J.C.D., LL.D.

Educators

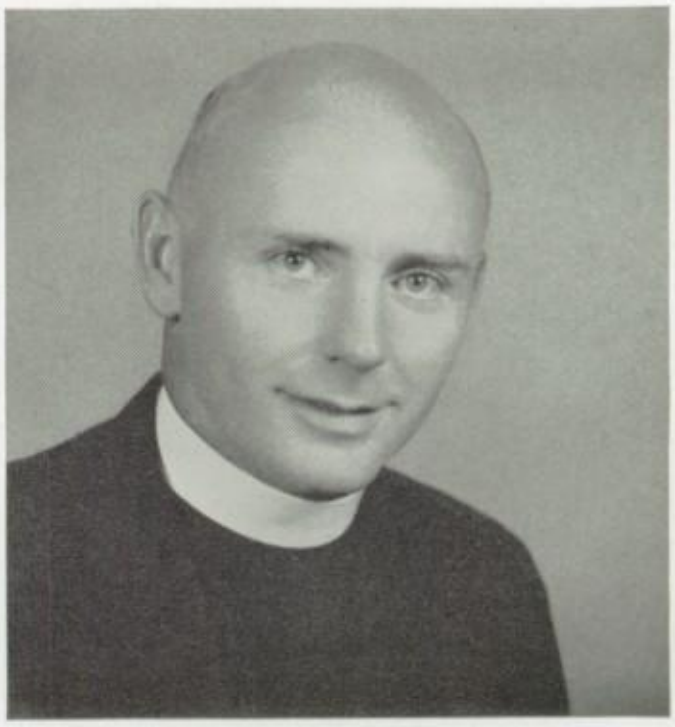
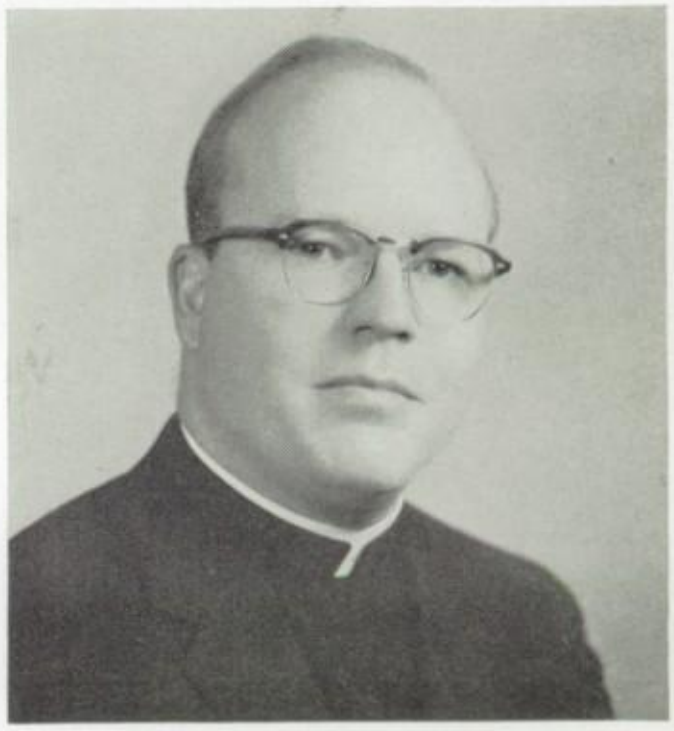
The Right Reverend Monsignor Edward M. Reilly is charged with the responsibility of the entire educational system of the archdiocese. Last May, the Reverend Edward T. Hughes was named assistant superintendent and in September Centralites took an added interest in the diocesan office when a faculty member — Reverend Francis B. Schulte—joined Father Hughes as assistant superintendent.

The Archdiocese of Philadelphia has every reason to be proud of its diocesan school system and its leaders whose broad scope of vision and attentiveness to detail have insured a thorough education for the Catholic youth of the area.

Monsignor Reilly's tremendous interest in Catholic education, along with his very gracious personality, show his dedicated spirit to this worthy cause, and for this we are deeply grateful. His work in encouraging and furthering Catholic education has established for him a place of respect and admiration in the hearts of faculty and students alike.



The Reverend Edward T. Hughes,
Assistant Superintendent of Schools.



The Reverend Francis B. Schulte,
Assistant Superintendent of Schools.

Of Youth

Despite his pastorate at St. Paul's and rectorship at Central Catholic, the busy Reverend Henry Huesman finds time to open our school year with Holy Mass, to distribute report cards to student parishioners, and to act as speaker at various religious and civic functions. This zealous priest undertook added responsibility when on April 25, he was appointed to the office of Diocesan Superintendent of Schools. The graduating class extends heartfelt appreciation and gratitude as he assumes this new office and honor.

Father Huesman and Father Leichner got right to work after their new assignments had been announced.

Reverend Henry J. Huesman

In his years as principal at Central Catholic, Reverend Raymond Leichner has watched the enrollment soar over the thousand mark; but he has managed, somehow, to find time and place for every student. Wholly devoted to his vocation, Father keeps a watchful eye on study habits, discipline and spiritual progress. As assistant superintendent of schools in the new archdiocese, Father will have great added responsibilities. For his untiring efforts to keep Central on top the entire student body expresses its sincere thanks.

Central's Navigators

Throngs of students enjoyed a free day in October as the faculty of Central joined other teachers of the Berks area in the celebration of Education Business Industry Day. After touring various industries of Reading, the teachers enjoyed an informative program on the development of Berks County.

Conventions, symposiums, and every type of educational gathering counted members of Central's faculty among those in attendance. Members of the science department traveled to Scranton to attend a Science for the Day program. Later in the year joined by the teachers of the mathematics department, they attended the Pennsylvania Catholic Roundtable of Scientists and Mathematicians. Playing host to various groups, Villanova University was visited by Sister Marielda attending the Library symposium and Sister M. Alethia and Sister M. Magdelaine who participated in the annual press conference. Gregg sponsored a Business Workshop at Temple University. Commercial teachers gleaned many valuable hints from this excursion.

Leading us in our quest for maturity, our religious teachers sought to aid us live full and useful lives as American Catholic citizens.

to safe harbors

Besides our faculty of religious teachers, three lay teachers and various doctors, nurses, and secretaries complete the staff at Central. The pre-professional class was directed by Doctor Sylvio Barra who invited professional men and women to lecture on the many phases of medical work. Several times during the course of the school year, Doctor Lucille Tucker Greene appeared on the scene to administer various tests to somewhat reluctant but grateful Centralites.

Dedicated to their various professions, these men and women gave us examples of model Christian lives in the modern world.

Leadership Exemplified

Scholarship, leadership, character, and service are the requisites for induction into our Monsignor Wachter Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Under the auspices of Sister M. Carletta, the N.H.S. sponsored their annual cake sale at Kissinger's Market. Sufficient money was realized to furnish the school with a new filmstrip projector.

Among the other services rendered this year were the sponsoring of a career forum, tutoring underclassmen, and maintaining order in the corridors. The blue and gold arm band of this society signified activity throughout the school.

To stimulate competition in studies among the students, a new item, designed in the traditional blue and gold of the N.H.S. was the traveling pennant, awarded to the homeroom claiming the highest number of honor students.

Duty Comes Knocking

Student government activities necessitate the use of Mr. Bell's invention for seniors W. Chlebowski and K. Martin.

With the school motto, Excelsior, in mind, President Robert Bialas and the student council strove to lead Central's student body ever upward. In his speech of acceptance at the installation ceremonies, Robert recalled Central's scholastic and extracurricular achievements and asked the students to keep that record unblemished.

The typical agenda of the council meetings includes the planning of extracurricular activities. Through their moderator, Sister M. Imelda, they recommend the various suggestions of the students for consideration of the administration.

Their duties are obviously important in the proper functioning of an educational institution. Even more important are the lessons their activities teach; a lesson in the desirability of good government; an experience of participation in authority and an example of effective student citizenship.

On the stairway to success stand senior representatives: D. Howe, T. Ireland, J. Thren, D. Rambo, and J. Esterley.

A lull in the busy day finds junior council members, J. Weber, M. Daley, R. Hehn, J. LaManna, and B. Pomeroy "rallying 'round the jukebox."

Majors in public relations—the Big Four, T. Roth, A. Leddy, M. Bereskie, and J. Maxymillian practice getting acquainted.

Five and five are ten—council members: T. Malecki, L. Mancuso, C. Barrasso, M. Freeman, P. McCoy, S. Boldt, L. Thren, M. Schorn, M. Raskiewicz, and P. Hein.

Itinerary Recorded

What occurs between the taking of pictures and the miraculous appearance in June of some hundred pages of copy, captions, and pictures is not a phenomena, but the normal activity of a yearbook staff. With Sister M. Magdelaine as moderator and Helen Chomyn as editor-in-chief, this year's staff began its search for a suitable theme. Having deliberated carefully, everyone agreed on the choice—"No man is an island."

In the autumn amid the confusion which permeates the first few weeks of school, initial steps were taken to organize our annual. With the hard fact of a March deadline before them, the staff devoted many after school hours to the compilation of all the necessary pictures and writing.

Since every yearbook has a financial side, the senior class worked feverishly to meet the quota to make publication possible.

Rewrites, fast typing, captions, and missing pictures became so usual that the editors assumed an attitude of quiet desperation. But, somehow, all obstacles faded, and a completed Centralma inevitably greeted the end of the school year. Proud of the All-American and All-Catholic ratings of past books, the staff has tried to make Centralma, 1961 live up to its heritage.

The thought of mailing the completed book brings smiles to D. Rambo, M. Purcell, L. Distasio, and S. Cooney.

Cute lassies in a huddle: L. Auchter, J. Sirak, G. Malick, and E. Stavarski master the cropping technique.

It's time for a refreshing pause. H. Stephens, B. Mulligan, associate editor, P. Kearney, and M. Freeman all agree.

Deadline hour finds the copy staff members, P. McCoy, editor, K. Arentz, and M. Kazmierzak searching for the right word.

Time: Deadline date. Persons involved: Reporters C. Barrasso, D. Mullen, A. Bilewicz, K. Pfau, and B. Verdone: Subject matter: news.

Dabbling in Ink

Published eight times during the school year, Hillside Echoes is the product of a large staff of reporters, under the leadership of editor, Kathleen Martin and the guidance of the moderator, Sister M. Alethia.

During October, staff members journeyed to Villanova University to participate in the annual Press Conference. Kathleen Martin was one of the speakers.

Headed by a new moderator, Reverend James Ferry, the forensic union continued its winning ways. Senior B. Janis and junior T. Wright copped third and fourth place respectively in the annual Monsignor Wachter Tournament.

Three sophomore boys, J. Martin, M. Wasickanin, and M. Kane distinguished themselves by each winning a first place in the various local Optimists' contests.

Hours of practice reaped rich dividends when Centralites won the coveted judges' trophy at the Philadelphia diocesan finals. K. Martin, P. Hein, T. Roth, J. Maxymillian, and T. Wright all placed in the final round. This was Central's last participation in the activities of the Philadelphia forensic group. It was as members of the newly created Allentown diocese that Central students traveled to Baltimore to participate in the National Catholic Forensic Meet.

Melody in Motion

All equipment is accounted for as the result of much checking by T. Shaulis and B. Garvie.

Aaat-ten-tion! Forward, march! A shrill whistle sounds there's a blair of music and Central's marching band turns out again in their traditional maroon and gold uniforms.

As the band struck up a peppy tune, fancy stepping majorettes lent a pleasant air to half-time by their expert twirling and occasional designs on the green turf of Saint Lawrence Stadium during the football campaign.

This year saw another innovation added to the music department. The marching band sported a signal corps composed of freshman and sophomore musicians under the leadership of Margaret Flemming. This aided in making the 1960-61 band the largest in Central's history.

Central's snappy band didn't just happen. The boys and girls in this department give up much free time to master the intricacies of marching. Every Wednesday evening during the summer vacation, after school hours during the regular school year, and even holidays are devoted to the all-important practice periods.

Under the expert direction of Father John Zolondek, Central's musicmakers lead busy lives. Father realizes the importance of shouldering responsibility and so he delegates a certain amount of work to student directors. Besides learning music, these students come to an understanding of democratic living.

After Three

From 8:30 to 9 and again after school enthusiastic club members hold their meetings. The various clubs provided opportunities for the advancement of their members in religious, social, and literary fields.

A school-wide collection of cancelled stamps and Christmas cards was the chief activity of the mission club. These students sorted, cut, and packed all this material and sent it to various religious establishments where it will be used to further the work of the Church.

Pep Club members kept school spirit at an all time high as game attendance testified, while journalism clubs prepared underclassmen for the day when they would take over the school publications.

Contributing regularly to the activities of the state-wide organization, the Future Teachers of America followed a busy schedule. In addition to daily class periods, students interested in science and math delved further into their respective fields during the bi-monthly club meetings.

Highlight of the club year was the language assembly presented by all the language clubs.

Senior projectionist D. Humma shows the intricacies of threading the movie projector to B. Knight, a freshman member of the club.

The Queen's Teens

During October, M. Olersak joined all the faithful in honoring our Lady, Queen of the Rosary.

Permeated with the Catholic philosophy of life, the educational program at Central afforded many spiritual experiences that prepared the students to accept the moral responsibilities of their actions in a materialistic world.

Weekly Mass and Holy Communion was the mainspring of grace and courage for many, while the annual retreat furnished the opportunity of viewing life in the light of God's grace. Daily visits to the Eucharistic Lord in the small school chapel proved a bright spot in the daily routine.

Observation of the Church Unity Octave, the lighting of the Advent wreath, and the programs of Catholic Press Month kept the universality of the Church before the minds of the students.

Guidance in the choice of vocation and daily contact with religious teachers aided students in understanding the important role religion must play in daily life.

Knight of the Altar, K. Crossland prepares the vestments for weekly Mass.

Just three short weeks, then Christmas. R. Bialas lights the candle on the advent wreath as R. Anastasio and R. Mull join in the prayers.

Catholic Action at Central stems from the knowledge and love of God acquired through religion classes. As freshmen we followed the life of Christ up to the establishment of His Church. Our attention during second year was given to a study of the Mystical Christ, the Church. Juniors delved into the moral code to comprehend more fully their duties to God and fellowmen, while seniors busied themselves learning a systematic defense of their faith in apologetics classes.

Pens flew across papers as members of all the English classes produced material for the National Essay and Poetry contests. February saw the publication of student literary efforts in the school paper. Students found great treasures in their study of American and English literature. Juniors produced their autobiographies and seniors spent endless hours on the inevitable term paper.

Reach to the Moon

To satisfy the growing scientific demands of our era, Centralites plunged into the fields of mathematics and science. Adequately equipped laboratories and the efficient teaching of the Sisters of Saint Francis gave students ample opportunity to become familiar with the practical aspects of experimentation. This year a cloud chamber used to detect radiation and a Van deGraaf generator were added to the science department. The biology lab now boasts of special blinds which permit the use of the microprojector in the room. Also new this year was the Traveling High School Science Library which is sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Further reading material was provided by the "Current Science and Aviation" and the weekly "Science and Math." Projects for the science fair kept students well occupied.

Directed by the Bernardine Sisters, Centralites plotted graphs, solved for x, and were initiated into the realms of higher mathematics. The mathematics contest, sponsored by the Society of Actuaries and the Mathematical Association of America, gave upperclassmen an opportunity to test their skills. A series of filmstrips on modern math proved a valuable visual aid.

Centuries on Parade

Since November 1960 marked a general election year for us Americans, history students at Central learned much about the political parties and the role they play in our democratic system of government. Despite the national interest in the presidential campaign, American history students took time out to prepare an imaginative P. A. S. program to mark Pennsylvania Week in late October. During the course of the year, P. O. D. enthusiasts studied local industries for a close look at the American competitive enterprise system. Future jury members were initiated into court procedure by a visit to the courthouse to watch a case being tried.

Poster projects and the translation of fairy tales provided an interesting study for French students. Song fests held on Fridays during the year added a bright note for German scholars. Spanish pupils made a detailed study of some of our Latin American neighbors and learned to understand and enjoy their customs. Faithful followers of Caesar worked diligently, hoping to reap rich rewards in the Auxilium Latinum contest held in the spring. As a finale to a busy year, students of the various foreign languages presented a Language Festival which proved to be an entertaining assembly.

Efficiency Performance

Mobiles, portrait studies, block prints, and paper sculpture spelled a busy year for Central's art students. Under the expert supervision of Sister Annemarie, these students produced the attractive background displays for the Christmas Assembly and the annual Spring Concert. This department was well represented in the nation-wide A.A.A. poster contest.

Taking advantage of a four day cooking school sponsored by U.G.I. at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel, senior students watched lessons in food preparation. Juniors learned all the intricacies of dressmaking as they fashioned skirts and dresses. New on the agenda for Sophomore girls was the Junior Red Cross home nursing course. Upon the successful completion of this course the girls were awarded certificates. All members of this department gleaned many helpful hints on how to create and maintain a happy home atmosphere.

White Collars

Typing to music is a familiar situation to Central's commercial students. This method was employed by Sisters Imelda, Frances, and Rosanne in an attempt to increase the number of certificates awarded annually to superior commercial students.

A visit to the Bell Telephone Company and a talk given by a representative of the American Casualty Company afforded seniors an inside glimpse of the business world and its requirements.

Beginners in shorthand looked with awe at the seniors who have already reached the 120 wpm plateau. Meanwhile bookkeepers struggled to master the maze of horizontal and vertical red and blue, and single and double lines.

Dictaphones, adding machines, mimeographs, and the large catalogue of modern office machinery requires skilled hands if a good performance is to be had. Students rostered for office practice learned the intricacies of such equipment. Come graduation, these students will have exchanged their practice period for a real position in the modern business world.

Juniors.

Proud of their title of upperclassmen, Juniors aimed at compiling an enviable record for their class. Sport enthusiast Mike Daley proved a valuable asset to the basketball five, while Tom Blekicki, Larry Fox, and Joel Purcell claimed positions on the varsity football team. Diane Trout starred in girls' basketball.

Scholastically, the Juniors aimed high, too. Since her poem was selected as the best submitted to Hillside Echoes for the literary edition, Ingeborg Endter received a gold pin. Proving his adeptness with the pen Thomas Wright won the position of associate editor on the school paper, and Eda Schifalacqua provided many of the captions for the 1961 Centralma.

December 21 marked the appearance of class rings. Then Juniors voted for their prom chairman and began preparations for the gala evening of February 4. Tests, assemblies, Holy Week retreat, final exams and Junior year was finished. The glory of Senior year beckoned.

Sophomores.

No longer greenies, but full-fledged Centralites, Sophomores took an active role in all school activities. Three lassies, Donna DiFulvio, Marcia Thren, and Bernadette Siegle represented the sophomores on the cheerleading squad. On the basketball court Donna Eckel proved her prowess. Sophomores could also claim a fine representation among the majorettes and band members.

Scholastically, too, sophomores were eager to shine. Articles from this class were printed in the National Poetry Anthology, the National Essay Anthology, and the February issue of Hillside Echoes. Larry Polinsky added lustre to the sophomore crown by his excellent science project on weather. Report assemblies found a number of sophomores receiving first and second honor cards which testify to their efforts at study.

Whether cutting up a frog in a biology class or viewing Robert Louis Stevenson's TREASURE ISLAND in English class, the sophomores had a busy life at Central as they prepared for the future.

2:15. Freedom for the annexmen.

Freshmen.

Dividing their strength between the annex and the main building, the youngest Centralites were united in their efforts to succeed. During the early months of the school year, the greenies stood in awe of Freshman Day, but they weathered their initiation admirably.

A new feature for the freshmen at the annex was the trek up the hill to attend assemblies at the main building. Many annex students also made an after school trip to take advantage of the facilities in Central's up-to-date library.

Freshmen vied with upperclassmen for honors, and amazingly enough, came out on top. In every drive and campaign, freshmen made a noteworthy showing. At report assemblies it was evident that freshmen were well in the lead. Boasting of the largest class in Central's history—381 strong—the freshmen also claimed a record number of first and second honor cards. Section 2A had the highest number of honor students for the first two report periods.

Anxiety prevails upon this scene as gridiron opponents clash at kickoff.

Head Coach, Mr. Steve Hydock, rushes M. Clemente into action with a new play.

Opposition Blasted

A bevy of hopeful candidates reported to St. Lawrence Field in August to initiate another round of the pigskin sport. Head coach Steve Hydock, Cardinal touchdown tutor for the past 11 seasons, with his assistant Andy Hydock, promptly proceeded to whip together a co-ordinated squad. Graduation of 14 lettermen compelled the entire team to be revamped. Fortunately, inclement weather caused a seasonal delay of two weeks, giving Coach Hydock the precious time he needed to make adjustments, and throw the Central Catholic gridiron machine into high gear.

The Cardinal line, although outweighed by almost every opposing team, more than made up in spirit and determination for what it lacked in size. The crashing defensive line was so incredibly stingy, that it allowed its foes a total of only 64 points all season. This was a major factor in determining Red and White victories.

Since passing was kept to a minimum, the remarkably swift and deceptive backfield used a thundering ground attack to spearhead its way through an opponent's line. Grinding out yard after yard, Cardinal backs totaled an impressive 238 points in nine games.

When winning, Central usually rolled up scores which humiliated the defeated team. However, the major disaster in the 1960 campaign was a Thanksgiving Day loss to Bishop Kenrick which crushed Central's hopes for league honors. The mighty Cardinals finished the season with a lordly 7-2 log.

Central-St. Pius X

The Hydockmen unveiled the 1960 season opposing St. Pius. Although on the short end in yards gained and the first down department, Central conquered the Saints to the tune of 25-6. M. Raszkiewicz spearheaded the Red Bird onslaught with 123 yards and two T.D.'s. M. Kushmore and T. Glembocki collected single markers to complete Cardinal scoring for the afternoon.

Central-Nativity B.V.M.

Nativity became the victim of the Cardinals' home encounter with a sound 42-6 victory. Each stanza saw the Hillroaders hit pay dirt with a 20 point bulge in the fourth canto, the conquest also set a record for consecutive triumphs at nine. Sparkling defense was again evident as the Hilltoppers managed to garner a mere six points while offensively, six Centralites tallied T.D.'s.

Central-St. Matthew

Central inaugurated league warfare, crushing Saint Matts 32-6. Vanquishing the mirrors on their home grounds, M. Raszkiewicz paved the way with twin TD's, while T. Glembocki, J. Purcell, and J. Duchynski crossed the final wide stripe to insure the Cardinals their tenth straight triumph. The Red Birds' defense proved solid as the opposition was again held to a lone six points.

M. Raszkiewicz spurts for the end zone but a reception committee awaits his arrival.

Central-Lancaster Catholic

Hydockmen gave a stirring exhibition of power in crushing the Crusaders of Lancaster 46-0. Central's powerful hard-driving offense coupled with strong defense proved to be too much for the Lancaster Countians. L. Fox and T. Glembocki both tallied twice.

Once again the impervious Cardinal line halts a drive into their territory.

After a winning season, Central's pepsters B. Didyoung, M. Thren, Yarby, G. Rutolo, A. Prendergast, D. DiFulvio, B. Janis, A. Leddy, B. Seigel flash the victory smile.

Central-Notre Dame

The Crusaders refused to be awed by Central's offensive strength. However, the Easton-area parochials were held at bay by a mighty Cardinal defensive unit, and when it was all over, Central had its 11th straight win neatly tucked away by a 12-0 margin. L. Fox and J. Purcell shared afternoon scoring honors.

Central-Allentown Catholic

The Cardinals met a formidable foe and came through in grand style by besting the Vikings 21-12. M. Raszkiewicz displayed brilliant running by galloping 41 yards for one of his two TD's. The Red Bird defense was put to a real test by the Allentown eleven, but the Cardinals emerged with only a few ruffled feathers.

Another obstacle is cleared in work horse M. Raszkiewicz's quest for paydirt.

Central-Bishop McDevitt

The lightly-regarded Wyncote crew upended a bewildered Cardinal squad, 14-13, thus bringing down the curtain on Central's two-year win skein at 13. T. Blekicke and L. Fox tallied for the Red-Birds but the loss of M. Raszkiewicz, who suffered an ankle injury, and inability to convert more than once, capped the verdict.

Central-Shenandoah

Fired-up Hill Road gridders smashed a hapless Shenandoah group with a powerful ground attack in a 34-0 rout. T. Glembocki and L. Fox each registered two TD's. D. Fry swiped an Atom aerial running for the score, while D. Howe split the goal posts with four placements.

Central-Bishop Kenrick

Central climaxed the 1960 wars with a 26-13 defeat at the hands of the Golden Knights. All Red Bird scoring attempts were nullified until the third stanza when J. Purcell hit paydirt. Purcell scored again in the fourth canto. However, costly fumbling resulted in a loss in the Turkey Day affair.

M. Kushmore lugs the leather through a gauntlet of adversaries.

Victory Flares

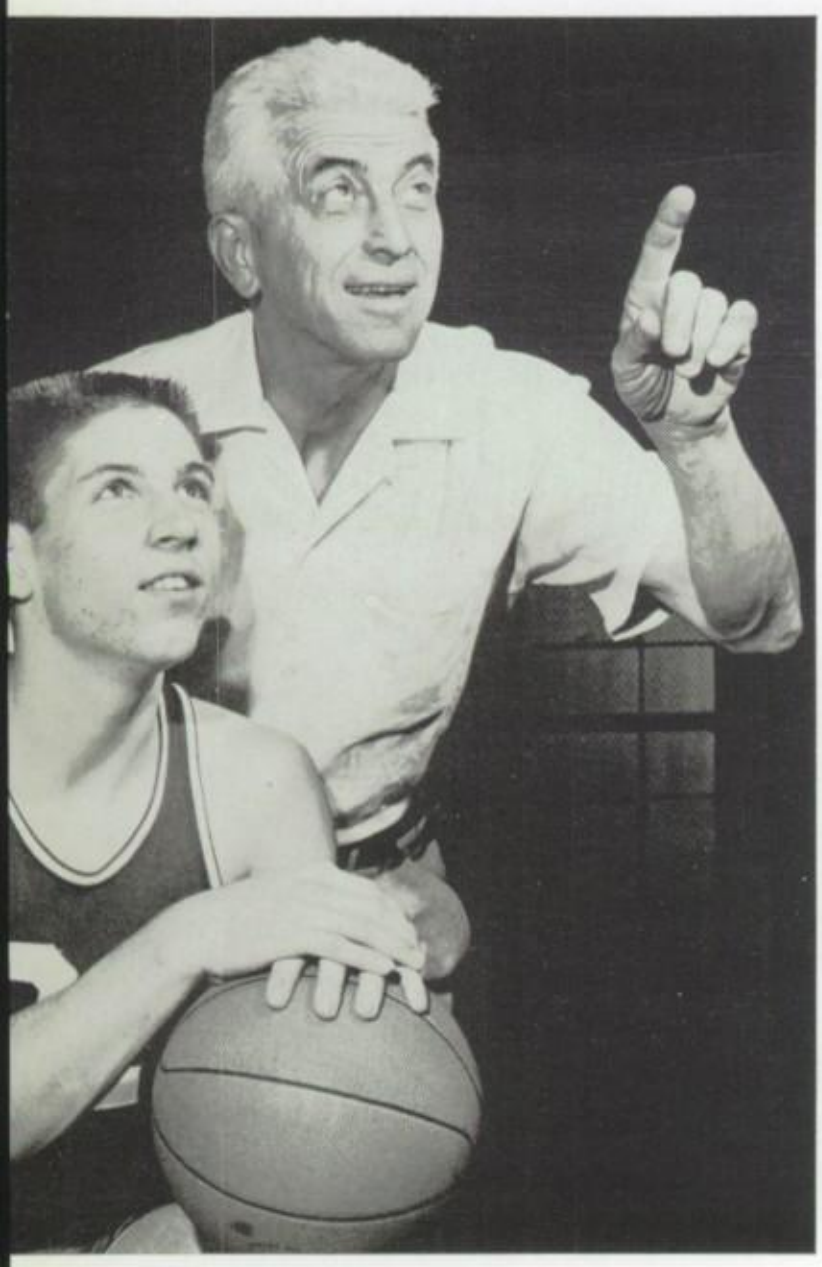
The student and the professor. Coach J. Schaaf briefs Card ace M. Schorn on a new play.



With a majority of last year's dribblers returning, Cardinal mentor Joey Schaaf had a solid foundation on which to build Central's Philadelphia Suburban Catholic League title hopes.

The Hillroaders opened the season with a string of setbacks but the Red Bird quintet lost no time regaining their poise. Although the team won its first two league contests, it was touch-and-go throughout the first half which the Cards ended with a respectable .500 percentage.

Coach Schaaf realized that the squad needed a revamping and made the necessary alterations. The result—the Cardinals caught fire. An effective 1-3-1 defensive zone kept the opponents field goals to a minimum while a fast break blitzed the opposition and left them open-mouthed. The Schaafmen lost no time setting up an eight game winning skein and rival coaches rated the flaming Red Birds as "the team to beat". However, a disheartening pair of losses to Notre Dame and St. Matt's squashed all pennant hopes.

But the Red Birds still had no salt on their tails and they advanced into the PCIAA Class A playoffs. First opponent to bow under the bludgeonings of the Cardinal express was an old and powerful nemesis, Allentown Central Catholic. In undoubtably the most thrilling game in Hill Road annals, the Cards managed to nip the Vikings, 49-47. The winning effort was primarily creditable to Mike Schorn, whose layup just seconds after the start of the second (and sudden death) overtime brought the house down, although the comeback staged by the Cardinals as a team was probably the biggest thing since Samson brought the roof down on the Philistines.

Central, in its most balanced attack of the season, belted Marian Catholic in the second round of PCIAA play and team spirit soared to a record height.

But in the semi-finals, the high flying Red Birds were brought down by the lances of the Golden Knights from Norristown who eked out a 51-50 victory bringing Central's climb up the PCIAA Class A playoff ladder to an abrupt halt. Height advantages and a deflected pass in the waning seconds led to a Cardinal downfall.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE 1960-61 CAMPAIGN

1. In the contest with Bishop Shanahan, the Cards set a team record by converting 36 fouls in 52 attempts and came within four points (86) of setting a new one-game scoring mark (89).
2. Reading Central became the first champions of the newly-formed Allentown Diocese when they sent the Allentown Vikings to Valhalla for the first time in eight years.
3. The Hill Road hardwood quintet closed its most successful season in a decade with a 16-10 log and occupied third place in the PSCL circuit.
4. Mike Schorn, Central's most prolific point producer in recent years, set a new foul shooting record when he bucketed 23 from the charity stripe against B. Shanahan. The Cardinal ace netted 610 points this season and boosted his career mark to 1,335—third highest in the roster of Central's sharpshooters.
5. Early in the season, the J.V.'s saddled the Baby Knights of Reading High with a 30-29 defeat. The Cardinal fledglings also conquered the Bishop Kenrick small fry quintet by a 29-25 count. The twin wins were a "First" in Central's logbook.

Court Champions

E. Ertel awaits the tap-off as V. Whelan springs from the court.

A determined Cardinalette squad with four returning starters, plunged into their sixteenth season with high hopes of avenging their two defeats of last year. As a result record upon record came tumbling down before this year's team.

In their second year of league competition the lassies, sporting a 6-0 league record, became Philadelphia Suburban League Champions. This season also saw the only undefeated season and the highest point per game average in the team's history. The girls scored 664 points in 11 games for an average of 60.3 points per game. While racking up this score, the defense sparkled permitting only 377 points to be scored against them.

Central's one-two punch, junior, D. Trout and senior, E. Ertel, maintained their positions as high scorers for the second consecutive year.

Through their scoring and the play-making ability of junior, V. Whelan the Cardinalettes ended the season with a laudable 11-0 record.

Bat Men

Champs in their first year of P.S.C.L. play, the Red Birds are out to defend their title with the booming bats of M. Raszkiewicz, R. Thren, M. Clemente and M. Schorn. Since half of the 1960 starting team was lost to graduation, Coach J. McLaughlin, under whom Central has never had a losing season, is looking to a group of promising rookies to bridge the gaps.

The Cards, who initiated league play with a victory over Bishop Shanahan, are subject to a fast moving, balanced slate, with seven games played in the friendly atmosphere of Pendora Park. Some nifty fielding plus the talented arm of hurlers J. Notario should provide the spark to set Central's tossers on the road to another baseball crown.

Third sacker R. Thren holds down the hot corner.

Spartacus

With the first sign of spring, the winged-foot athletes of Central made their appearance in St. Lawrence Stadium. Mr. Wally Zuchowski, the new coach, lost no time in moving the boys through calisthenics, drills, and workouts. The thinclads hope to retain their Class C title through the efforts of a returning varsity quartet —T. Glembocki, J. Pezdirc, T. Kennedy, and R. Bialas. The Cards face a light but exacting campaign and how they deal with two powerful Bishops—Kenrick and McDevitt—will decide the success of the season.

Starting the season with notches in the win column, the Cardinal duffers have high hopes of repeating their P.S.C.L. victory of last year. The golfers have a dozen dates on their schedule, including six Suburban Catholic League affairs. All said, the Cardinal linksmen should again prove to be the team to beat.

Southern Soiree

Like many social events of the past winter season, the Junior Prom scheduled for February 3 met with a snowy reception. However, February 10 saw the juniors forget about the wintry weather as they danced to the southern melodies of the Tillman Fisher orchestra.

Members of the decorating committee transformed the ballroom of the Berkshire Hotel into a replica of the charming old Southland. Ivy covered lamp posts, a southern mansion, and white roses added to the atmosphere.

Co-chairmen of the Prom, Thomas Blekicki and Donna Hoopes were crowned Belle and Beau. In the glory of it all, they forgot the hectic month of prom planning. All too soon the melodies died away and the Junior Prom, 1961 became a cherished memory.

Mr. J. Fields, Mr. G. Clump, Mrs. E. Stoebenau, Miss M. Fields, Mr. E. Stoebenau, and Miss W. Murphy chaperoned the festivities.

Greenie Frolic

Suspense and fun were the keynotes of this year's Freshman Day. While the greenies shivered in their shoes, the seniors under the leadership of President Robert Bialas prepared for the day of the initiation.

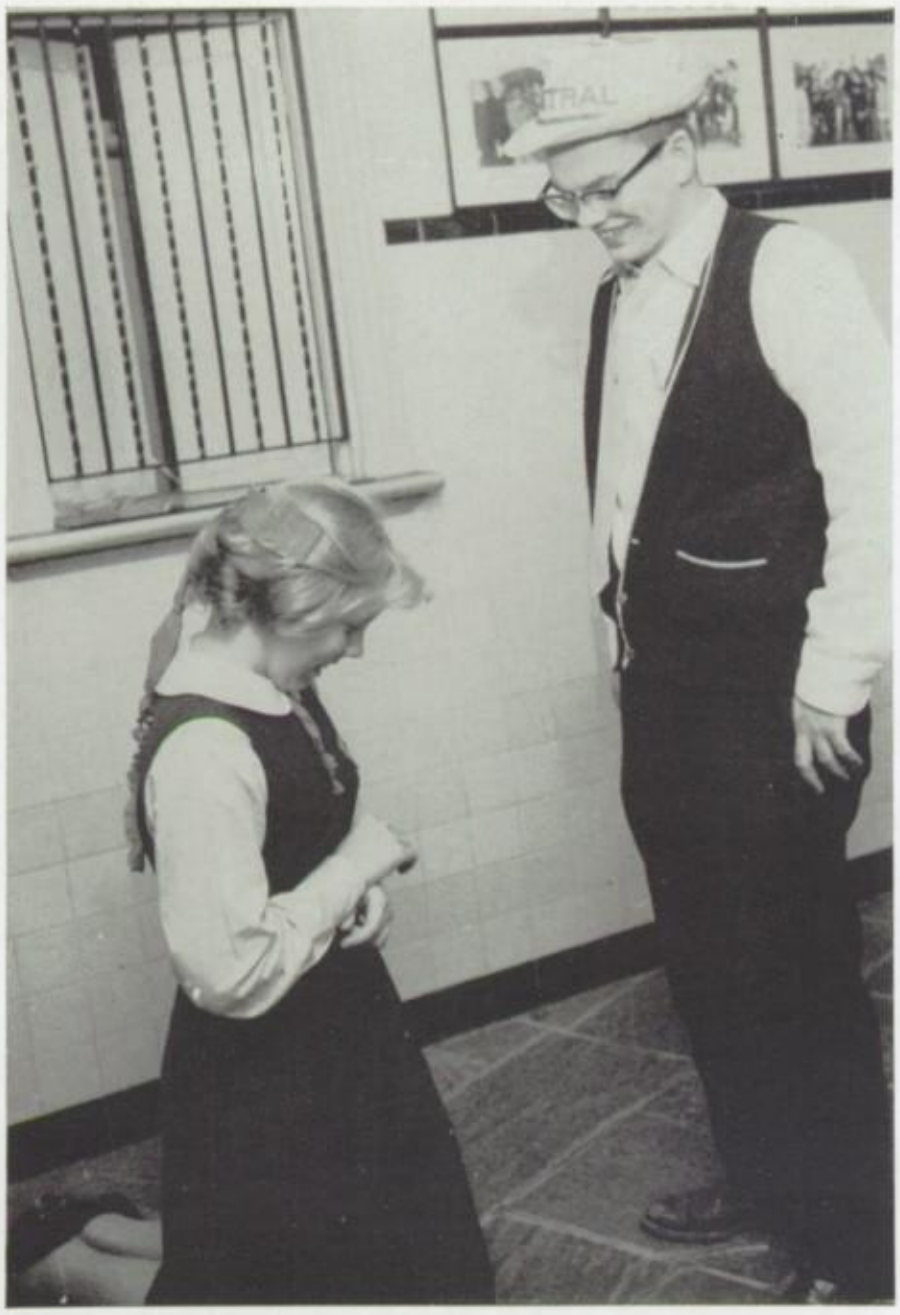
From eight to eight-thirty gaiety reigned supreme as the lordly seniors ruled over the freshmen whose homerooms were located in the main building.

At two o'clock the freshmen from the annex joined the freshmen from the main building. By this time the gym had been decorated with huge green and yellow bows and balloons. During the first part of the program various freshmen, all displaying huge green ribbons, were called upon to perform according to the wishes of the mighty seniors. Bowing low the frosh recited the senior pledge, carried plush toys, raced around the gym in a toy fire engine, and satisfied every whim of the upperclassmen. But the freshmen discovered that even the seniors had hearts, and when they had proved themselves good sports, the freshmen were told to relax. Then the seniors presented various skits they had prepared.

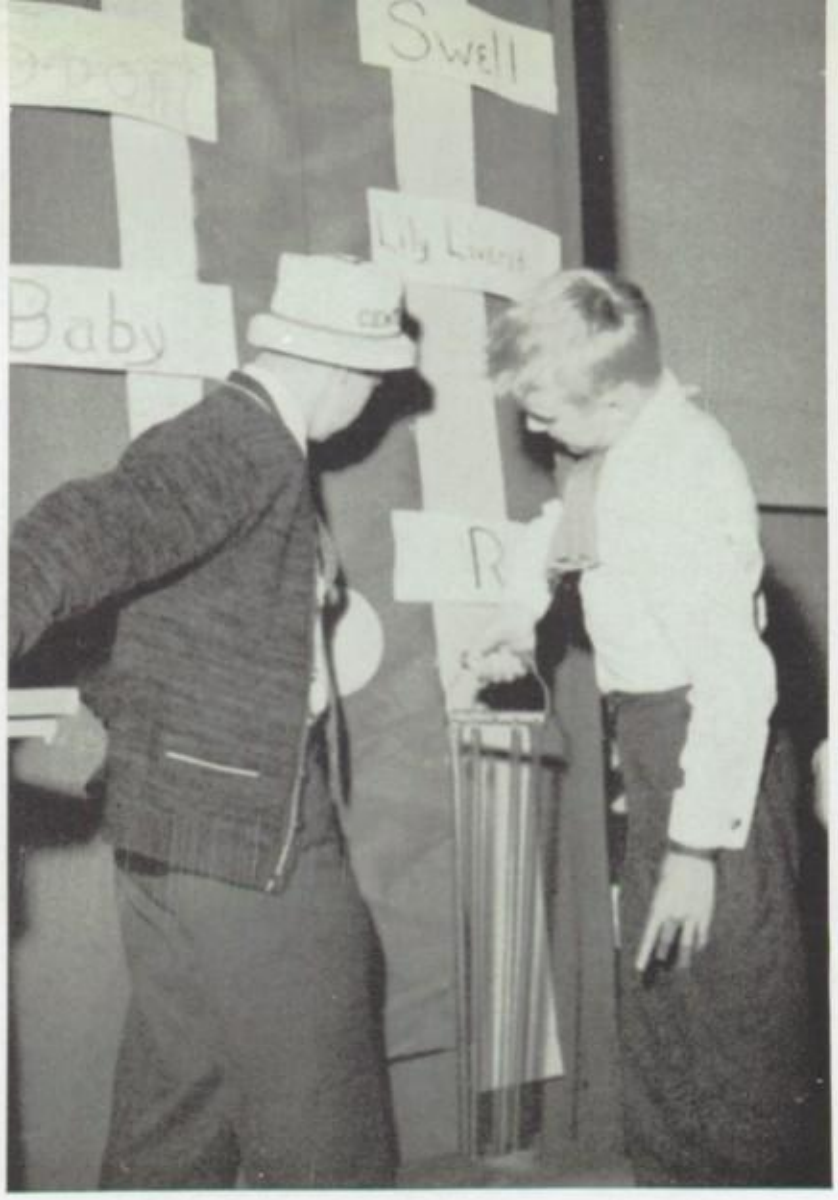
Green bows and ties were put away for another year and the youngest members of the schools were now considered full-fledged Centralites.

J. Dallas and A. Carey promenade with their all day suckers.

Back to their baby days. Freshmen race drinking bottles.

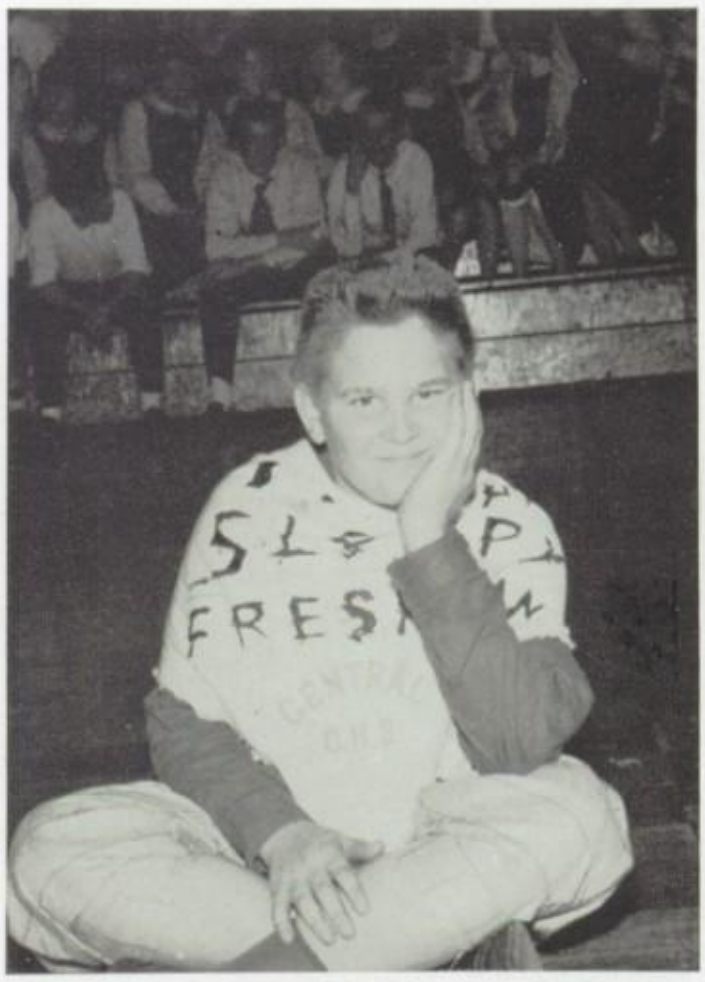


J. Murray grins at tongue-tied S. Wenrick as she stumbles through this year's pledge.



Proving his skill, a freshman aims at the highest mark.

Freshmen delight in the "hoop-la hat" demonstration given by D. Kozik.



"Everybody's pickin' on me," sighs P. Driscoll.

Carefree Mood

A bright note in the regular round of classes was produced by the assembly programs presented during the school term. P.A.S. programs marked the celebration of Vocation Month, Pennsylvania Week, Catholic Press Month, and the Civil War centenary.

Under the direction of Father Zolondek the music department presented the annual Christmas program. As Mr. Foreign Language stood trial at the Language Festival, Centralites enjoyed the visit of the representatives of the various languages taught here at school. With an eye on the future, Centralites participated in a career day assembly. Most of the guest speakers at this assembly were alumni of Central. Shortly before the Easter vacation the glee club of Saint Joseph's College, Philadelphia paid its yearly visit to Central.

Senior thespians donned religious garb to present the three act comedy, Brother Orchid. Little John Sarto a gangster returns from a ten year prison term to find that he is to be "taken for a ride" by his one time friends. He escapes and takes refuge in a community of monks, the Little Brothers of the Flowers. Through the kindness they show him, Little John is converted and becomes Brother Orchid. How Brother Orchid handles his old friends when they attempt to break into the Little Brothers' flower market forms the climax of the play. Under the direction of Father Bednarik the eleven man cast turned in an excellent performance.

Thumbing through the library career kit, N.H.S. members, M. Deakyne and A. Tranovich plan the career day assembly.

Despite grueling cross-examination by B. Pomeroy, witness M. Kazmierczak retains her complacency.

A musical merry Christmas preludes a delightful winter holiday.

Untouchables Dum-Dum (R. Ely) and Fat Dutchy (C. Stengel) watch as "The Gimp" (L. Heere) orders Freckles (R. Brenner) to frisk "Little John" Sarto (J. Maxymillian).

Curtain call and the end of the language festival comes for star witnesses E. Schifalacqua, R. Sokol, M. Freeman, and I. Endter.

Doubt besets Brother Geranium (K. Crossland) but Brother Nasturtium (J. Bachman) offers reassurance.

"Listen here youse guys." Father Bednarik calls the cast to attention by employing Brother Orchid's jargon.

Amid the applause of Centralites, K. Crossland receives the Grand Champion award in the Albright Field House.

L. Polinsky accepts the congratulations of his science teacher, Sister Carolyn Joseph.

Displaying radiant smiles and prizewinner ribbons a group of excited freshmen leave the field house.

Winners' Circle

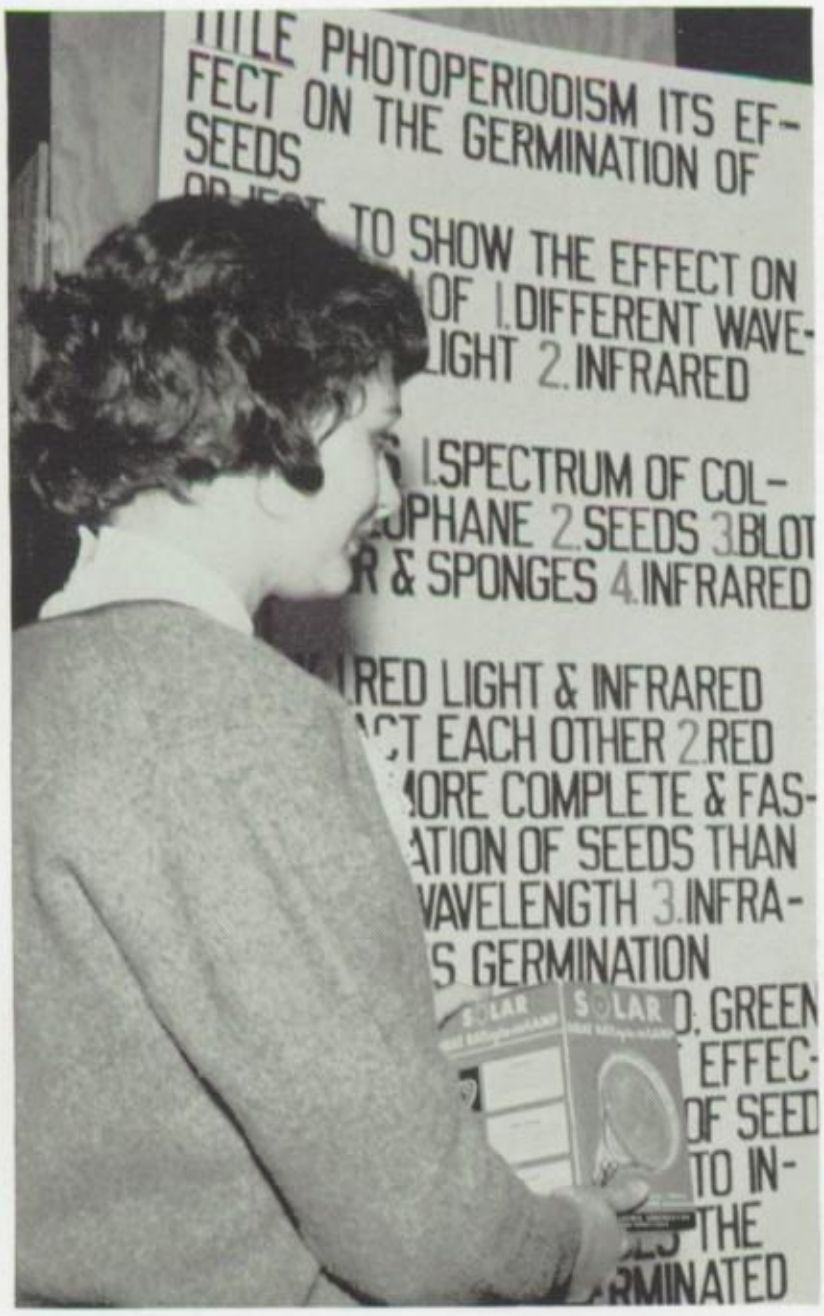
After winning a fourth place in the National Science Fair last year, Central's young scientists aimed at a repeat performance this year. During the entire year students worked on their projects which were first displayed at the school science fair in January. From here a number of projects were selected to represent the school in the Reading-Berks Science Fair. When the winners were announced on March 22 Central claimed four of the six first places in the senior division. For the third consecutive year a Centralite was named grand champion. This year the honor went to Kermit Crossland. Sophomore Larry Polinsky, besides winning a first place medal was awarded the navy cruise. Many second, third, fourth, and fifth place medals, as well as honorable mentions, were given to Central's students.

Two senior winners show their medals to Sister John Catherine.

After being named a winner, K. McCarthy examines her project.



Happiness radiates from A. Leddy as she explains her project to her father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. C. Leddy.

Zero hour approaches, Father Zolondek heads for the concert.

As M. Gallas and M. Fleming provide the music, the senior Bel Tones practice the scales.

With the first performance a thing of the past, C. Bechtel, F. Taubitz, M. Gleixner, and D. Franchi share their joy with Father Zolondek.

Taking a "breather" during a long rehearsal, the woodwinds relax.

The brass and percussion group wait for the downbeat.

Sounds in Music

In spring a Centralite's thoughts turn to the annual concert. May 17, 18, 19, and 21, Father Zolondek conducted the school musical. Honored in this year's musical were the late Oscar Hammerstein and the Civil War centenary. Members of the various groups who participated in the concert spent many hours practicing to make the 1961 musical a memorable event.

Tuning up for the first performance, the string section appears confident of success.

Courtly maidens C. Ireland, C. Vespico, B. Verdone, C. Barrasso, J. Thren, M. Gallas, A. Prendergast, M. Bereskie, K. Martin, S. Boldt, H. Chomyn, S. Verdone, M. Kazmierczak, S. Cooney, L. Mancuso, M. Freeman, A. Leddy. Missing K. McCarthy.

Attendant K. McCarthy pauses amid the spring blossoms.

In Praise of Mary

Each year in early May, Central's students prove themselves true clients of our Immaculate Mother and proclaim their undying filial love for her who gave us Jesus. Amid the Marian hymns and prayers of the entire student body, a group of senior girls attractively attired in pastel gowns led the May Queen who was privileged to crown Mary as Queen of May, Queen of our school, and Queen of our hearts. The ceremony closed with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Chapel—a few moments of prayer before procession.

La reine de mai—Danielle Nicole Rambo.

Into the maelstrom of life.

Journey's End

Perhaps the most difficult task in preparing these one hundred and twenty-eight pages was deciding upon the theme which would bind them; and the second, making these few sounds and syllables arranged by John Donne become more than that.

I hope that, although these covers may find their place in some forgotten niche, the five-word theme will echo from time to time reminding you of the few precious years spent within Central's walls.

No man is an island. It is with sincerest gratitude that I acknowledge the fruitful efforts of:

Sister M. Magdelaine whose patience and advice as moderator were invaluable

The Senior Staff who helped to make this yearbook "different"

Father Leichner for his generosity and interest

Beth for her suggestions

Loring Studios

Art Engraving, especially Mr. Phillips

F. A. Woerner, Inc., Printers, and Mr. Homer Sterner

Arnold's Book Bindery

The Junior Staff Members for their help in the typing and caption-writing departments

The Senior Class whose response did not go unnoticed

And all those whose encouragement made this 1961 CENTRALMA possible.

Thank you!

Helen Chomyn
